Monthly Bulletin of Rotary Club of Tai Po

resident's Message

I had a substantial schedule in the past month which kept me busy, but I had a very enjoyable time.

Club Officers

Many thanks to all officers for attending the board meetings. The first one was held on 13 July, and the second one was on 3 Aug which were attended by 15 officers. It's so nice to have a big group discussing club business, and it was a fruitful & productive meeting.

I would like to share with you about the officers' work each month, so you may know more about their "jobs".

Photographer PP Peter – He assumed the role of official photographer of our club. Most of the times he takes photos in the middle of a meal. That means he has no proper moment to eat. After the event, the job is not done until he sends out all the photos! A big round of applause to PP Peter!

Web Master Jason: Whenever he receives our activity photos, RCTP Facebook page is updated very promptly & efficiently. Ever wondered if web master is his full-time job? Give Jason a super "Like"!

24th Annual Ball Celebration Dinner

To express my greatest appreciation for your support to our 24th Annual Ball, I hosted a hot pot dinner on Tuesday, 28 July. Yes, nearly 50 people having hot pot together at a cozy hot pot restaurant in Tsimshatsui. You can imagine how hot it was.

Ask PP Louis how hot he was! Thank you again for coming to the dinner. I enjoyed being with you all, as always.

AG Visit

AG Frankie, DAG Abraham, and DAG Patrick attended the meeting on 3 Aug. Their visit was filled with positive support & encouragement. It is good to see that the visit attracted high attendance. Thanks AG & DAGs' red box contribution. Their visit made the red box happy. Plus, "Welcoming Back" PP Ron & PP Francis, I can tell the red box was very happy.

A pity that I missed the chance to arrange a group photo. What an inexperienced president. Dear everyone, please remind me if I forget again next time.

Thanks

I would like to thank VP Roger for sharing with us at the 27 July meeting. He took up the role when I called him in the afternoon on that day, knowing that the original speaker was not able to come due to the flight arrangements from KL. The talk was informative and the meeting was fun, thanks to our baby club RC Central, with 12 'kids' visiting the mother club's meeting.

Thanks to those members who have brought guests to attend the meetings. I hope they will come again.

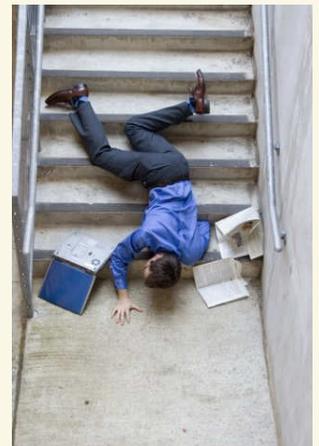

Be a gift to the world

Once upon a time in ancient China, a scholar was on his way for the royal exam. When he crossed the river he asked the captain of the boat, "Do you think I can make it in time for the city before the gate closes?" The wise old captain looked at the panting scholar and the heavy knapsack which he had just off-loaded from his shoulder onto the boat and knowingly replied, "If you move slowly, you shall; but if you rush, you shall not be able to make it." Puzzled by the seemingly illogical reply, the scholar thought the old man must be out of his mind and so ignored him.

The boat finally reached the other bank. Once ashore, the scholar hurried his way towards the city. As he gathered speed, the knapsack he was carrying weighted down on him. Then suddenly, he tripped and fell causing also the strings tying his knapsack to snap. All the books and stuff that were in the knapsack spilled and scattered.

The scholar frantically picked up the books and other stuff, tied up the broken strings, rebounded the books, re-arranged them into the knapsack ... He labored over the remedial works for half a day before he could continue with his journey. When he reached the city, it was dark and the gate already closed. It was then that he realized the wisdom of the boat captain, in succinct terms: haste makes waste.

Maybe we are all too used to efficiency. Modern day technology has enabled us to do things at supersonic speed. That we need to wait seems entirely unacceptable. Having to wait 20 minutes for the bus to come is intolerable and a complete waste of time; so you take the taxi in order to buy precious time. When kids do not recover after a couple of trips to the doctor, then that doctor must be mediocre and the medicine he prescribed wrong. You change to another doctor. Why wait and see? You think the life of the kid is too precious to wait.

In the past, kids do not go to school until aged 5 or 6. Before that, they stayed at home and learn to take care of themselves. I certainly did not start kindergarten at the age of 3 and for the first few years of my life, I stumbled and fell and I learnt by mistakes. In this day and age, a 2-year old will already be in school because parents believe knowledge will not wait for late comers. The poor kid will be disadvantaged if he starts 'late'. We do not take to growing gradually anymore and cannot tolerate doing things one step at a time. We want immediate results.

Like how the boat captain explained it, "haste makes waste" is easily lost on us. So writers, your Tai Post editor usually gives you ample time to prepare, write and hand in your articles. Don't leave it to the last minute or rush it if you can help because you risk ruining it in a hurry.

August is Membership and New Club Development Month. RI online social media is collecting stories from members around the world about why they joined - and are proud to stay in - Rotary. Check out these two stories by Evan Burrell, a member of the Rotary Club of Turramurra, New South Wales, Australia, and a regular contributor.

Are you a Rotary superhero?

I'm sure that, as a child, you had a favorite superhero. Maybe it was Batman or Superman or Wonder Woman or even Spiderman, weaving webs or leaping tall buildings in a single bound to help those in need.

Now that we're older, we know all too well that that sort of superhero is hard to find. But do you know the easiest place to find modern-day superheroes? Your local Rotary club! And they don't even hide behind a secret identity.

Much like our comic book counterparts, Rotary members are regular people who go about their daily lives until "the call comes in." Through our membership in Rotary, we are able to make a difference in many different ways.

Recently, Rotarians joined other volunteers in immunizing thousands of children against polio during a one-day End Polio Now immunization drive in Pakistan.

Rotary superheroes leapt to action in Gujarat, India, launching a program to put books into the hands of children from low-income families. Other superheroes formed a new Rotarian Action Group aimed at protecting the world's most endangered species. Several years ago, Rotary heroes in the New England region of the United States provided long-term recovery assistance to those affected by Tropical Storm Irene.

Being members of a Rotary club, we have the power to lead by example and become role models for others through our integrity and willingness to help those in need. Accomplishing all these heroic acts requires willing minds and willing hearts. That's what enables ordinary people to achieve extraordinary results. Our children, our friends, our partners, our community — anyone we interact with can be inspired in some small way by our actions and deeds.

Superheroes don't just exist in comic books or movies. And luckily, we don't need to put on a cape to be effective. Each of us, through Rotary, has the power to do good in the world and to make a difference in the lives of others. Rotarians are truly modern-day superheroes! How are you making a difference through Rotary? Are you a Rotary superhero?

The benefits of Rotary: friends wherever you go

It's nice to have connections in a foreign country. That's what makes Rotary International so, um, international! Whether you're travelling for work, or for leisure, you can visit a Rotary club almost anywhere you go. And one of the benefits of being a Rotary member is that you are certain to make new friends, and find valuable local information to enhance your stay, while you are at it.

Need to know the best things to see during your stay? Where to eat? You might even find someone who has a room to rent for cheap. It's also great to see how different clubs conduct their meetings. You can discover new ideas for your own club.

Before I joined Rotary, I spent twelve years in Rotaract, Rotary's program for adults 18-30. I remember back in 2008 when I was on an exchange to New Jersey, and I visited plenty of clubs as part of the experience. But one club struck a chord with me — the Rotary Club of Red Bank. A few members of the club made sure we were taken care of. One member in particular, Steven Sanfilippo, took me to the local attraction "Jay & Silent Bob's Secret Stash" a comic book store owned by director Kevin Smith. He knew I was such a big fan of Superman and pop culture. It's these little things that make Rotary what it is, a place for friendship.

But you don't have to go far to experience this benefit of being a member. Visiting other clubs in your own region can build strong connections and develop relationships that make it easier to do joint projects.

With Rotary the journey never ends. Rotary gives you opportunity to travel, meet people from all different backgrounds, and see the world in a whole different way.

Annual Ball Celebration Dinner

Peter Lam

Soon after our annual ball in June, President Vikky has kindly expressed her thanks to our member for the support and good work with her infamous message praising us for being good porters, good salesman, good entertainers, silent hero . . . but to prove her gratitude was more than words, Vikky treated us to a hotpot dinner at the 火鍋館 in Tsimshatsui on 28th July. The party was well participated by over 50 members and spouses plus our good friends from other clubs including President Karen Chan from baby club RC Central, President Cecilia Lee from RC Queensway, Immediate-Past AG Dominic Chu, PDG Jason Chan and DDS Menza Chu. The atmosphere at the party was simply marvelous, filled with great fun and laughter as we all enjoyed good hotpot food and fellowship tremendously! We were delighted that CP Donald, PDG Kenneth and PP Charles all returned to town from their long overseas trip to join us so we almost have a full team of members at the party! Big thanks to President Vikky for hosting this party which was made perfect with the tailor-made "celebration party banner" and presence of our pro-cameraman Kai Gor to take nice photos for us. Thank you President Vikky !

ALiA™ – Single drop sample delivers rapid diagnostic results in minutes

Roy Chan, assistant to William Yim

With wide-spread unkept human activities in modern days, it is no surprise but still alarming to see the outbreak of new and emergent diseases and their threats posed to public health. Viruses are more resistant, infectious and fatal after interactions between human and animals. More recent ones are Swine / Avian flu outbreaks, such as H5N2 in Taiwan, H5N1 in Hong Kong & Egypt, H7N1 in Shanghai and H7N9 in Korea. According to the data from the World Health Organization, there are 3-5 million cases of severe illness (e.g. influenza A) each year, which cause 250-500 thousand deaths per annum. What can be done to address this situation?

A practical strategy would be to coordinate the outbreak alert and response to emerging infectious disease. Divided into 4 phases, they include measures to: mitigate (forecasting readiness), alert (early detection), control (rapid response) and learn (control opportunity). We do better if we respond to a threat proactively. With these ideas in mind William thought of collaborations with universities, international research institutes and technical institutes for technology start-up. He also enlisted supports from local research centres and Hong Kong Science and Technology Parks Corporation. In 2012, Sanwa BioTech Limited (SBT) was established to focus on the research. In 2013, SBT started collaboration with Nano and Advanced Materials Institute Limited (NAMI) to bring about the novel Lab-on-chip diagnostic application for rapid swine influenza virus detection. William's dream came true.

Taking on William's initiatives, SBT developed an innovative immunoassay technology for rapid virus screening based on a lab-on-chip microfluidic diagnostic platform, which is called ALiA™. Lab-on-chip describes experiment and analysis processes miniaturized in a 'chip-size' device. This diagnostic technology requires minimal amount of test sample to a scale of micro-liter. As little as 1 drop of extract of body fluids/blood suffices for an experimental result within 10-15 minutes.

ALiA™, Lab-On-Chip (LOC) Platform – a product from Sanwa BioTech Limited, is the lab-on-chip microfluidic diagnostic platform in portable, rapid screening, multiplex and economic device for actuating and generating the analysis processes and results.

It is an effective, preventive and timely measure to preform infectious diseases and allergens diagnostics, tropical and emerging diseases diagnostics, companion diagnostics and livestock diagnostics and surveillance. It performs point-of-care diagnosis in hospitals, emergency clinics, academic R&D centres, quarantine zones and even at borders for health control.

Up to now, ALiA™ obtained numerous endorsements from international research and development centres, such as NAMI and Fraunhofer ENAS. International competitions are held to foster interchanges with advanced biotechnology developers in the world. SBT is one of the Award Winners of AIA Accelerator Program 2015 and is awarded the Winning Prize in Inno-China Entrepreneurship Competition 2015.

The attributes of ALiA™ could have profound effect on front-line public health surveillance and diagnosis for infectious diseases on both animal and human. It provides a useful tool to supplement front-line and check point programs in addition to traditional thermal scanning methods which can sometimes be non-specific and inconclusive toward prevention of specific threats.

SBT is going to have different versions of ALiA™ in multiplexing panels. It not only aims at lowering the risk of the potential diseases outbreak of livestock animals and companion animals, but also monitoring food safety in our daily life.

The concerns of more outbreaks of new types of virus would also be alleviated as long as we set up responsive strategies, and it is achievable in the foreseeable future.

Supportive parents - I can never thank you enough

Rachel Kwong

Law has never been a foreign subject to me but it was never a subject of interest.

My parents are far from the stereotypical parents in Hong Kong – definitely not the ‘Tiger’ parents type. Having a mother as a lawyer, I felt that if I do law, I would somehow be under her shadow and I was eager to be a distinguished self. However, it seemed wise to do law at university – promising career, they said; ‘You love reading. Law suits you’, they said. No one told me how rapid the pace is going to be – as a first year, when everyone else can still enjoy fresher’s, we were working so much on our grades as that alone can determine whether you end up in a top tier law firm or not.

In the first term of our second year, we had the pleasure to write cover letters and polish our brief CVs. If we were lucky, in just a week’s time, we would receive emails from law firms arranging interviews. Alongside preparation for interviews, never ending essays and reading for classes did not make life easier. Reading over 100 pages before weekly classes was necessary. While reading towards the 60th page, my eyes were no longer focusing on the text, I did train up my speed reading skills.

It would be ridiculous to say I sailed through my three years at the LSE, but what I got out of it was just as rewarding if not more. Being under such intellectually stimulating environment – with top lecturers and teachers – was very encouraging and motivating. It was my honour to have met such great and amazing people.

Looking back at the three years, I cannot understand how I survived it through. For this, I can’t be more grateful to have such supportive parents and to have sent me all the way to the UK for an education that gives me access to such an amazing exposure. I can never thank you enough.

The Stages

There are 7 stages in total and each stage started or ended in a different town. Our tents and (red) bags were well taken care of once we left the "Start" line and the volunteers would transport them and set them up for us again on the new campsite where we would be staying that night after the race.

Each stage is given a different 'character' based on the nature of the course and the environment where the course is located. Personally I think stage 1 and 4 were the toughest as there were many climbing parts of the trails were exposed and so we had to ride our 25 pound bikes up 600- 800 meters height without any shades above our heads. All climbs were followed by a long stretch of downhill course as reward for all riders and the feeling of reaching the start of the downhill section was priceless.

Post-race blues

After each race, all riders were free to walk around in town to relax and stretch. Stretching was a MUST because my buttocks and muscles have never been so sore before in my entire life especially after the third day. Nutrition was a big issue also because on average every race requires around 2000-3000 calories and the organization only provided us breakfast and dinner and these two meals could only fill up 1/5 of what we needed each day. On average we needed 5000 calories each day in order to stay fit and fully charged for the next day without having our body to burn muscles instead of fat.

69th place out of
644 in the masters
category.

Mongoliour – Service Trip to Mongolia

RAC WYS College International Service Directors Kelvin Lo and Takshing Cheng

8 Days 7 Nights service trip to Mongolia was organised successfully with the collaboration of the Rotaract Club of Tse Tseegung. This trip aims to bring joy, presents and knowledge to the orphans through 4-days voluntary teaching sessions. It is definitely a remarkable visit for our participants as well as the orphans.

When we first arrived at the orphanage, most of us felt nervous but excited. In order to get intimate with the kids, we first arranged some ice-breaking games when participants and kids were divided into groups to play together. We introduced some traditional Hong Kong games to them and the session ended with laughter. It helped us to build up friendships with the kids and afterwards they used to stick to and hug our participants. It was a moving scene.

Later, we started our voluntary teaching session. We divided the teaching directions into four avenues – Science, Art, English & Sports. At the science session, car models and kaleidoscopes were prepared. Our participants brought several empty milk bottles, drinking straws, styrofoam and balloons to complete the car models. By blowing the balloon locating at the end of the car, it moved smoothly. We had a competition to see which car runs the furthest. Kids enjoyed the game and gained some lovely presents. Other than that, by using colorful transparent paper and tissue roll holders, kids were able to see colorful images and they were curious and excited about it.

For the art session, our participants had practiced hard in order to learn several kinds of paper folding to teach them. Initially kids just learnt some basic paper folding like stars and frogs. Later, we taught them some more intricate paper folding like guns and hearts. Lastly, we held a plane competition to find out whose plane can fly the furthest. The session ended in harmony.

English is a crucial teaching part in many service trips so we also included it in our trip. As we were told the English level of the kids were not high, so we just prepared the most fundamental English to teach them. We had a handmade poster which contained A to Z on it. We introduced A to Z to the kids by singing ABC song continuously. Fortunately, they followed the track quickly. Besides, we have brought some tailor-made fruit figures to teach them the fruit names. As fruits are something closely related to their life, we hope to spread some knowledge which is useful in their daily life.

Sports are the last session we taught. We hoped to strengthen their friendship as well as collaboration through various sport activities. Rope skipping, dodgeball and basketball were some of the games we played with them. All these required team spirit so as to achieve trophy. What surprised us most was the team spirit among them. They were willing to listen to the leader and they worked well with each other. We could see they are highly intelligent. We were delighted and proud to see their innocent smiles. At least, the mission of our service trip was achieved – to cheer the kids and accompany them to have fun. Lastly, some of our participants shed tears while saying goodbye to the kids. It was the most unforgettable scene we saw in the trip. We not only brought joy to the kids, they also reminded us to treasure everything we own currently. We will definitely never forget the days spent with the kids.

After finishing the voluntary teaching part, the visit in Mongolia began. We spent an afternoon in Bogd Khan Museum. With the clear explanation by the tour guide, we were able to understand the history and the development of Mongolia more. We also went to Black Market – a local market selling different kinds of domestic products. Though we did not buy much there, we were able to understand Mongolians' lives more.

Our favourite part was the visit to Terelj National Park. The scene there was simply amazing. The grassland was big enough for us to run and jump freely. It was the first time for all of us to live in yurt. It was a special and memorable experience. We went hiking in the national park. Words are not enough to express our excitement when we saw the scene on the top of the mountain.

Later we tried horse riding with the help of local people. 19 of us were riding like an army. Apart from horse riding, we also tried cycling there. We cycled in an enormous park that we would not be able to find in Hong Kong. The view there was great and we took a lot of selfies there.

Having finished the exercise, we picnicked on the grassland. It was so relaxed and satisfying. Other than such activities, we did try some typical Mongolia food. We ate baked lamp, Mongolia BBQ and also Mongolian pizza and buffet. All the meals were delicious and can never be tasted in Hong Kong. Not only that the food cannot be found in Hong Kong, so was the fantastic view.

'One, two, three, four....' there were countless shiny stars in the sky. The scene was just impressive as there was no light pollution there. What we have gone through in Mongolia will last forever in our memories.

'Smile is the prettiest thing you can wear.' Although we can only accompany the kids for a few days, we can see they are smart and with high potential to learn. Even if we were simply passers-by in their life, we still hope our presence can bring them joy and inspiration.

Lastly, without the help from the Rotary Club of Tai Po & the Rotaract Club of Tse Tseung and the participation of our participants, our service trip would not be held successfully. We would like to show our appreciation to them sincerely and we wish our future activities can be held as successfully.

PDG Kenneth gave us a most interesting recount of what he and Lucia experienced at the 2015 World Expo in Milan.

PP Claire was the lucky winner of the raffle draw and got to taste reindeer pate and enjoy the delights of a rotary glass candle, courtesy of PDG Kenneth.

President Vikky was cheerful when she declared a toast to the world over coupled with the Rotary Club of Tai Po before she closed the meeting.

27 July 2015

As heavy weight speaker Chip Tsao failed to make it to our meeting, VP Roger So stepped in and spoke on an equally heavy topic "Enforceability of mediated settlement agreements and agreements to mediate."

PP Wilson was still thorough with his vote of thanks even when it was one of our own members, Roger, giving us the presentation.

President Vikky would be able to fend off buzzing bees, mosquitoes and what not now that she won the raffle gift of a mosquito killer given out by PP Dennis.

A huge turn-out brought about by the members from baby club Rotary Club of Central; and Rotaractors from both RAC Tai Po and RAC Wu Yee Sun College.
